

Terms & Conditions for ETOA Tour Guide ID card application

Disclaimer

The application form is accessed via a website operated by the European Tour Operators Association Limited of 4th Floor Grays Inn House, 127 Clerkenwell Road, London, EC1R 5DB, UK ("ETOA").

Information collected via this application system is supplied by individual applicants and/or ETOA members (users). ETOA cannot guarantee its accuracy or completeness. ETOA does not accept any liability for any error or omission it may contain.

The Tour Guide ID Card scheme is administered on behalf of the European Tourism Association AISBL, Rue due Marché aux Herbes 61, 1000 Brussels, Belgium. Registration number BE 0525.647.552. Neither the European Tourism Association nor the European Tour Operators Association make any endorsement of any Tour Guide ID card applicants or cardholders.

Individual probity

ETOA is a lobbying association. It has no authority to investigate users nor the information submitted prior to the preparation of ID cards. The ETOA member cited by the user is responsible for selecting and contracting the applicant, and for ensuring that the correct individuals receive the individual cards.

Limit of use

Users are not entitled to use ETOA's name or logo in any other form of identification or other information attesting to their personal or professional status.

Privacy Statement

For details of how we may use information that ETOA obtains from you by the use of this site, please refer to our privacy statement www.etoa.org/privacy-policy/.

Applicable Law and Jurisdiction

ETOA is a company limited by guarantee, and registered in England. These terms shall be governed by English law. Although this site can be accessed from other places around the world with different laws from those of England, when you use www.etoa.org, you agree that the laws of England will apply to all matters relating to your use of www.etoa.org. You and ETOA also agree to submit to the non-exclusive jurisdiction of the English courts with respect to such matters.